

RoadRunner Named One of America's Top GreenTech Companies of 2026 by TIME and Statista

[Pittsburgh, PA] — March 25, 2026 — RoadRunner, a leader in AI-enhanced comprehensive sustainable waste management, has been recognized on the TIME list of America's Top GreenTech Companies of 2026. This prestigious award is presented by TIME and Statista Inc., identifying the top 250 companies in the United States driving environmental progress through innovative technologies and sustainable business models.

To determine the rankings, TIME and Statista analyzed thousands of companies based on three equally weighted pillars: Positive Environmental Impact, Financial Strength, and Innovation Drive.

"Being named one of America's Top GreenTech Companies by TIME is a powerful validation of our mission to modernize an essential industry," said Graham Rihn, CEO of RoadRunner. "At RoadRunner, we believe that the road to zero waste is paved with smarter technology. This recognition highlights how our AI-enhanced approach is not just optimizing waste and recycling for businesses today, but is actively driving the scalable environmental impact needed for a sustainable future."

RoadRunner continues to modernize the industry with fully-managed services that simplify the waste process for businesses. Using patented technology and AI, the company delivers location-optimized solutions that drive cost savings, improve service reliability, and significantly increase landfill diversion.
